EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

Dear Archie Readers,

Here's an upcoming event which unfortunately most of you will not be able to attend. But here it is anyway, for the lucky ones who can.

FILMART'S CARTOON WORLD GALLERY in Huntington, New York will kick off a week-long celebration of ARCHIE COMICS beginning Saturday and Sunday, September 16th and 17th, 1995. Featured will be classic Archie comic art, memorabilia and animation cels.

The big bonus will be personal appearances by legendary Archie artists Dan DeCarlo, Stan Goldberg and Joe Edwards. It's also very possible that less legendaries such as YoursTruly might be there, along with some other surprise guests.

For more information and times call 1-800-ART-CELS.

If you missed this column last month, or if you forgot, here's a reminder. Archie Comics will be paying cash prizes for the best reports submitted, entitled "My Summer Vacation." Winning reports will appear on Archie Club pages in upcoming issues. First prize will be $15.00.

HI, EVERYBODY! YOU'RE ALL IN LUCK, 'CAUSE I'M BACK AND HERE TO GIVE ADVICE ON LIFE AND LOVE.
Dear Cheryl
CLOSE YOUR EYES NOW! DON'T READ ANY-MORE!
SHE'S NOT TO BE TRUSTED!

BY SARA ALGASE

Dear Cheryl,
I have a crush on this handsome boy with red hair. His name is Eric. I told my friend I liked him and she told me she likes him, too. I think she's prettier than me. She has black hair and is really loud. I'm just a shy girl with red hair. Eric asked my friend on a date. I am so depressed. She took the only boy I ever loved. -- Lauren, Newark, DE

Dear Lauren,
While it's okay for you to steal your best friend's guy, if she has the nerve to steal your guy it's time for battle. Try to win him back subtly (with lots of winking) and when you have him, dump him and steal your best friend's current beau.
-- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
When I opened your first comic book in school, a boy named Michael saw your picture and said, "Whoa, whoa, whoa! Major babe!!" He never said that to ME!! How can I act like you? (And dress like you?) -- Love, A Girl Who Wants To Be Like Cheryl, Brockton, MA

Dear Girl Who Wants To Be Like Me,
I appreciate your good taste, and Michael's right. I am a babe. How to act like me? Think Sharon Stone, think Tiffani-Amber Thiessen, think Michelle Pfeiffer. About dress: think bold, colorful, short, leopard print bikinis, mini-dresses, mini everything. That's all for now. I can't give away ALL my secrets.
-- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I wrote a note to a boy named Sonny which said, "Sonny, Do you like me?" And he wrote back "No." That was a year ago, but I think he likes me. He talks to me, sneaks looks at me and he's pretty nice to me. How can I get him to REALLY notice me? -- Sonia, Everett, WA

Dear Sonia,
Any smart girl doesn't give up on a guy too easily. Smile at him whenever you see him in class or in the halls. A confident sassy smile will make him think you have something up your sleeve. And leave little nail polish hearts on his notebook when he's not looking. That'll catch his attention and make him give you a second look.
-- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
There's this boy I like a lot. Last year, I asked him if he would be my boyfriend. He said no and I was crushed. Now I'm in fifth grade and his stepbrother asked me to be his girl. I said yes. Then I found out the stepbrother was using me to get back at his first girlfriend. The slimeball didn't give me a valentine and broke up with me on February 22nd. Now the stepbrother has moved on to my best friend, and I still have a crush on the boy who said no. Help me! -- Kate, Houston, TX

Dear Kate,
If you ask me, your life has turned into a mini soap opera. Chill out from boys for at least a week. You need a break from it all. When you are ready to hit the dating scene again, do it with confidence, shiny hair and a little perfume. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
My boyfriend and I broke up two months ago. Ever since then, I feel out of place when I'm with my friends. They are always talking about their boyfriends. I feel dumb because I don't have one to talk about. What should I do? -- Garnet, Endicott, NY

Dear Garnet,
Gosh. That is a problem. I've never actually had that problem. But if I did, I'd probably talk about some hunky movie star like Keanu Reeves or Christian Slater. Your friends will feel so bad because their boyfriends can't compare. And hopefully they'll stop yapping about their snively guys. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
There's a girl in my class who acts mean to me. My mom says that she's jealous of me. Do you think she is? Can you tell me what to do if a girl is jealous of you? -- Elizabeth, Commerce City, CO

Dear Elizabeth,
Because I have gorgeous red hair, guys eating out of my hand and I'm totally rich, I have had the fortunate (or unfortunate) distinction of having many girls jealous of me. If this girl is acting mean, she might be jealous or just insecure. In that case, threaten to steal her boyfriend. She'll be scared into silence.-- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I really like this guy. But he likes this girl, Amy, who is prettier and stronger than me. How can I win him over and make him forget her? -- Lauren, Topeka, KS

Dear Lauren,
That girl may be prettier and stronger, but you've got some great tips from Cheryl, the queen of the dating scene. No guy can resist my boy-trap strategy. First, no boy is off limits. Second, wiggle and giggle. Third, flash your cash. With tips like that, what guy can resist you? -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I have these friends, but ever since this new girl came, they started a club and won't let me be in it. What should I do? -- Katherine, Mt. Rainier, MD

Dear Katherine,
Start a new club, with you as the president (of course). Find another friend to be secretary. Then drop hints about it being the coolest club in school. Maybe your friends will want to ditch their club and join. Even if they don't, you can meet a lot of cute guys that way. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I have a girlfriend named Cindy. We are in our pre-teens. Whenever she needs something she is always asking me to buy it for her. She thinks I'm made of money. What should I do? -- Willard, Watsontown, PA

Dear Willard,
You dear, sweet, misunderstood boy. Girls are looking for two things in a guy: good looks and someone who's loose in the wallet. If you want to make Cindy happy, you should probably buy her whatever trinkets her little greedy heart desires. After all, she is a girl. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I'm getting ready to go to a new school soon. I'm worried about not fitting in with all the cool girls. This will be my first year in a junior high school. My dad said that school is not about fitting in, but about getting an education. Is he right or is he wrong? -- Timberly, Accokeek, MD

Dear Timberly,
You're both wrong. School is about getting dates. It's time to scope guys and flirt. It's time to date and mingle, steal boyfriends and be popular. Doesn't your dad remember being a teenage girl? Actually, probably not! -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I like this boy named Jeremy. He rides my bus but he goes to a different school. I think he's really cute but he doesn't notice me. I tried perfume, wearing my hair up, acting cool and sitting with him. He doesn't do anything. What should I do? -- Cassie, Prosser, WA

Dear Cassie,
What is wrong with this guy? It sounds like you're doing all the right things. You're just going to have to pull out all the flirting stops. Tell him he looks even better in person than he does in your dreams. Mention that you want to spend some quality time with him. Wink a lot and wear irresistibly cute outfits. If all that doesn't work, check his pulse. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
There are these two guys who asked me out. I like them both. How can I make up my mind which one to pick? -- Michelle, Sedona, AZ

Dear Michelle,
Why date one guy when you can date TWO? It's cool, but it will take some planning. Say yes to both of them. Then plan secret dates where you won't be seen by friends who will tell the other guy. It will take some sneaking and scheming, but the fun will be worth it. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I told my friend which boy I liked, and the next thing I knew, she asked him out! Now they are dating! What should I do? -- Summer, Tallahassee, FL

Dear Summer,
I guess you learned a lesson in love. Don't give your competition the game plan! It's okay to steal her boyfriend, but for her to steal yours, well that's downright tacky. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
There's this boy I like named Robert. I think he's soooo cute. He's very funny. The trouble is, a whole other bunch of girls like him too. Now I don't mind that very much, but Rachel kissed him. I did not like that! -- Katie, Moreno Valley, CA

Dear Katie,
If a lot of girls like a boy, that makes him more of a challenge. It'll be that much cooler when you win him over. Pretend you are the only girl who's not interested. He'll be so dumbfounded he'll have to date you. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I like a boy in my class. I wrote him a letter but I didn't send it to him. I'm afraid he'll laugh at me and tell his friends. He's twelve and I'm only ten. What should I do? -- Madly In Love, Alberta, Canada

Dear Madly In Love,
An older man, huh? Well! Forget about that note idea. That's something Betty and Veronica would do. Try these flirting tips: wink a lot, smile coyly, wiggle when you walk, giggle, and tell him how great he is. It works for me. -- Cheryl

So there I was first time on the highest of high dives, my friends hangin' out down below. Boy was I nervous.

I mean I didn't want to end up being pool-side pizza.

Then Cap'n Crunch shows up with my favorite cereal, Cap'n Crunch's Peanut Butter Crunch.®

NOTHING CAN STOP ME NOW!!!

That in your face peanut butter taste and the Cap'n gave me all the confidence I needed.

No fear here! I did a total freefall. my friends go wild. Cool!

You and the Cap'n make it happen!
